CANADIAN LISTERS' CORNER

2005 Edition (lists to Dec. 31, 2004)

Welcome to the 2005 edition of Canadian Listers' Corner. The first thing the observant among you, (whoa, I guess that means all of you), will have noticed (besides the obvious tardiness of the report) is the addition of Canadian to the Listers' Corner name. There are many other listers' corners around, but only one for all of Canada. The next is that some guy named Larry Neily is now the compiler of the report. Some of you will know my brother Wayne, who was one-two in the ATPAT category with Eric Tull for many years; but fewer of you have met me. I'll include a brief bio in this issue for those who may be curious.

Before I do anything else, I want to thank Burke Korol. Firstly, I know that you will want to join with me in thanking Burke for his efforts (and now I can appreciate just how much work is involved) since 1996 in continuing the great tradition of Listers' Corner here in Canada. Despite the fee to cover postage and printing, it is a really a volunteer job requiring many hours of work. One has to do it for love. Thanks for the generosity and care you put into this project, Burke. Best wishes for your future endeavours. Without Burke's willing and able assistance, providing me all the information necessary to contact subscribers, compile data tables and produce the report, you would not be reading this newsletter. I want to add here that any shortcomings related to this issue are totally my responsibility.

As this is my first attempt at this, and I got off to a late start, I'm going to refrain from changing much this issue. I am hoping to make significant changes in the next year or two. Some of you are probably thinking, "Is that a threat or a promise?". Please don't worry. Any changes will keep the integrity of the publication, and hopefully improve it. One change I hope to initiate is increased use of the internet. But no one will be left out because they have no access, while those who have it, about 90% now, will have an "enhanced" experience. Reports can still be made by mail, but I hope to set in place a convenient internet reporting system. I can foresee many useful applications of the Canadian Listers' Corner website, which is now up and running, but still primitive. Some of you have already contributed your ideas, for which I am grateful. And I'd love to hear the rest of your ideas on how best to improve our experience.

One of the reasons for delay was the decline in response this year. I had hoped perhaps some late reports would come in. The number of respondents is down this year to 90 from 98 last year. Thirteen folks opted out this year. Perhaps the change was confusing, perhaps there was some natural attrition; but the reduction is none-the-less disappointing. I was able to contact most previous subscribers directly and have the word spread through most provincial listservs. But word-of-mouth is probably the best way to interest new listers to take part. Please tell your friends and get them to join the fun.

We welcome Jerry Pilny from Calgary, AB and Gordon Tufts from Wolfville, NS to the club. And we are pleased to note the return to the ranks of at least four of our former members: Terry Osborne, Gordon Pringle and Allen Woodliffe, all from Ontario and Wayne Neily from Manitoba. Welcome back.

For Canadian listers, last year's loss of the Crested Myna, no longer a countable bird in the ABA area since the last two died in a Vancouver car accident in 2003, has been made up for by the splitting of Canada Goose into Canada and Cackling Geese. This is however a great trade-off for ATPAT listers.

Who is this Larry Neily anyway?

I have several hats. I work for Statistics Canada as a Geomatics Specialist. There, I create custom maps and mapping software for the Agriculture Division and their clients. I am also the chairman of the Tabitha Foundation (Canada) board. This is a charity doing work among the devastated people of Cambodia. The most important hat is as husband of Marianne Bluger, a truly amazing human being who, believe it or not, I met while birding! She is one of Canada's best poets, and has nine books published. Another hat is that of webmaster at NeilyWorld. The main part of this site is an online Birding Ottawa Guide. There is a birding links section with 4,000 websites listed, and, of course, the pages for the Canadian Listers' Corner. And then there's the old birding hat. Other hobbies include science fiction, music, haiku, darts, crokinole and gambling (the stock market).

I grew up in the Annapolis Valley in Nova Scotia. With Wayne Neily as an older brother, I naturally became a birder at an early age. I attended Acadia University (Wolfville, NS) and what is now the College of Geographical Sciences (Lawrencetown, NS). I lived in BC briefly and in Ottawa since 1984. There I worked on the Radarsat project and flew remote sensing acquisition flights for Innotech Aviation, prior to my current job. With Innotech, our work took us to many interesting spots: Prince William Sound during the Exxon Valdez disaster, the Arabian Gulf state of Qatar after the 1st Gulf War, forest fire mapping in the western USA, forestry projects in BC, etc.

I have had 40 years of birding experience and have birded extensively in North America (12 provinces and territories, 47 United States + DC, 7 Mexican states and Costa Rica). For eight years I was the operator of the Ottawa Field-Naturalists' Club's Bird Status Line, before embarking on the website birding guide.

Lana Holmes Cover Art

The Tufted Titmouse rendering on this year's cover is by Treadwell, Ontario artist and writer, Elaine (Lana) Holmes. Lana Holmes was born in Liverpool in 1943. Her art and poetry have been lifelong passions. Nature and all its creatures figure prominently in most of Lana's work. Although comfortable in several media, graphite studies of birds and mice are most favoured, closely followed by watercolour landscapes. In recent years, Korean and Japanese poetry has occupied most of her writing hours. Watch for her book, Once-Wild Horses.

Lana is a lifetime member of Canadian Authors Association, and also is a longtime member of Hudson Artists Association, Ottawa Valley Artists, Kado Ottawa and Haiku Canada. If you wish to learn more, contact her by email at lafay@attcanada.ca or lafay@allstream.net.

LIFELISTS

This category of lists is the most popular by far. Many birders submit only their lifelists. With more entries to compare your own list to, it is usually the most interesting set of lists to scan. While it is self-evident to serious birders just what a lifelist is, a novice reading this may not know. A lifelist is, logically enough, the number of species seen in a given area during one's entire life (to date). There are, of course, complications. The bird must be a full species, recognized by the listing jurisdiction as a countable species. We hope by this to have comparable lists. Canadian Listers' Corner does not vet lists; we simply assume they are submitted according to the rules.

Checklist totals used for calculating thresholds are the same as those used by the American Birding Association (ABA). As with the ABA, Clements' 5th edition is the authority used for world species and families (the latter updated to the Dec. 2004 revision).

To be published, a birder needs a lifelist of 50% of the provincial total in most provinces; but only 40% of the provincial/territorial total in Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland and Labrador and the Yukon and Northwest Territories. New this year, the threshold for Nunavut Territory is reduced to 30%. This is because of the difficulties involved in birding there (even just getting there) and the dearth of lists from Nunavut. If and when we get sufficient lists from Nunavut, the threshold may return to 40%. Thresholds are 350 for Canada, 500 for the ABA area and 1000 for ATPAT and world lifelists.

Thresholds are shown after an area's total list. Lifelists are as reported up to the end of 2004. An asterisk (*) indicates that no list was received from that person for 2004 and the previous year's total has been recycled. Two asterisks () indicates that no list has been received from that person for two years. Since this is a transitional issue, it seems only reasonable to hope some of the "lost sheep" will return to the fold. Maybe this will jog their memories. Figures in parentheses following a birder's name are increases reported since last year, or in a few cases, since their last report. You may notice a few lists that are one or two birds short of the threshold, yet rounded off are at 50%. Given that the thresholds are a fairly quickly moving target, these are included.

This year's report includes threshold-breaking lists from 110 birders, including 90 current subscribers, 13 from last year and 7 from two years ago. Talk to your listing friends and let's see if we can increase the numbers for next year. The number of birders that made the Canadian and ABA thresholds are now 86 and 71, respectively. With the addition of three, the number of listers in the North American category is now at 24. Forty-six folks are now reporting world lifelists of at least 1000 species. The 48 ATPAT lists reported here is two more than last year. Those with a reportable number of bird families seen stayed at 32.

Canada 638 spp. (threshold = 350 spp.)

The top two listers for Canada (Roger Foxall and Hue MacKenzie) each added two species, but are still well short of the all time record. Peter Landry sent in the most improved Canadian list, up 18 to 415. But Christopher Escott's 14 new birds to reach 484 were amazing! Among new members, Gordon Tufts of Wolfville, NS, sent in the highest total, at 449; followed by Jerry Pilny at 417.

British Columbia 481 spp. (threshold = 241 spp.)

Lloyd Esralson's 20 new species lead all BC listers, bringing him to within 2 of the magic 400 for the province. Gordon Tufts of NS and Jerry Pilny of AB are newcomers to Canadian Listers' Corner, with 272 and 260 respectively. Curiously, only 13 of 34 reporters for BC are residents. This is probably because of the irresistible magnet of all those western species either impossible or unlikely elsewhere in Canada, though some of us have actually lived there briefly.

Alberta 406 spp. (threshold = 203 spp.)

Peter Mitchell's 32 new species for the province led all increments. Joan and Malcolm McDonald continue to lead with 355 and 354 respectively. Their 3 additions moved them one further ahead of Eric Tull at 351. Jerry Pilny from Calgary is our new AB member, and weighs in at 330 species.

Saskatchewan 407 spp. (threshold = 204 spp.)

With only one resident on its list, Saskatchewan seems as far away as Newfoundland. Five of the respondents live in neighbouring provinces and some are former residents, but only one person, Gordon Grief, report an addition, and that just one (he's probably having a little cackle about that). However, a new member from AB, Jerry Pilny, reports a list of 216 for SK.

Manitoba 387 spp. (threshold = 194 spp.)

Manitoba has a healthy (or to the naysayers, a "truly diseased") listing community, with 3 birders at or over 90%, and several in hot pursuit. However, there was little action last year among the leaders. Lorelie Mitchell of Glenboro lead in additions with nine. Peter Mitchell of QC and Gordon Tufts of NS submitted new lists of 239 and 205 respectively for the province.

Ontario 476 spp. (threshold = 238 spp.)

Ontario has around half of the Canadian Listers' Corner members as residents. It also is centrally located and has many wonderful birding locations that draw birders from other areas. Hence we have 68 lists reported for ON that reach the threshold, far more than any other province. In fact, it is twice BC's runner-up 34. Many very active listers live here. Alan Wormington continues to lead the pack in ON, adding two species, Cackling Goose and Pyrrhuloxia, to bring his front-running total to 429. Peter Mitchell added 16 species, tops in that category; though Frank Pinilla's 15 new birds was equally notable considering that he is 41 species higher up the list. Terry Osborne, a new member, lists an impressive 399.

Quebec 447 spp. (threshold = 224 spp.)

Quebec has some serious listers these days, and their own listing website. No astounding increases, but many small increments. John Luce had the largest increase at six. But Mabel McIntosh, who holds the highest list for QC, actually added 5 species to reach 375 for the province!

Nova Scotia 457 spp. (threshold = 229 spp.)

Newcomer to Canadian Listers' Corner, Gordon Tufts of Wolfville, weighs in with a hefty 343 for Nova Scotia. Ian Roseby has the largest advance of our members with 30 new species last year. The fact that six birders of the top seven listers had increases of 2 to 6 species indicates solid birding activity in this small province. Blake Maybank continues to lead all our respondents by a healthy margin with an impressive 385. Nova Scotia has the third highest checklist of all provinces. Only BC and ON are higher and they are both huge by comparison. So this may well be the best province in which to bird. (Did I mention I was from NS?).

Prince Edward Island 332 spp. (threshold = 133 spp.)

No changes this year in the Prince Edward Island lists. This is the only province where we have no resident members. This is reflected in the lowness of the highest list's percentage compared to all other provinces (64% compared to 79% to 92% in the other 9 provinces).

Newfoundland and Labrador 384 spp. (threshold = 154 spp.)

No changes this year in the Newfoundland and Labrador lists. Newfoundland has less lists meeting the threshold than any other province; and even less than the Yukon and Northwest Territories. Aside from the remoteness from the rest of Canada, a large number of rarities have been recorded here, making the threshold that much harder to reach. Our only resident member, Doug Phelan, who has our only 300+ NL list, did not report this year. Hopefully, this is temporary. I wonder where Bruce MacTavish's list stands.

Nunavut 256 spp. (threshold = 77 spp.)

The threshold for Nunavut has been lowered to 30%, and even then the second highest total reported (though this may change next year) only makes it by virtue of rounding. Robert Tymstra has proven it can be done, but it may require extraordinary measures. Nunavut has been with us now since April 1, 1999, but few listers have spent time there.

All Territories and Provinces Added Together (ATPAT) 5036 spp. (threshold = 1000 spp.)

This fascinating category, invented way back when by Eric Tull, I believe, has always been one of my favourites. There are those who have spoken against it, saying it rewards the traveling birder and penalizes the local “patch” birder. True, but we compensate by allowing the local area birders their own categories. That’s one of best things about listing, it goes from one extreme to the other. In the ABA area there is also what is known as the Total Ticky list. All the states, provinces and territories in the ABA area, plus DC and St. Pierre et Miquelon added together. Now that’s extreme! Since Canada is part of that area, we will add that category next year.

In 2004, Peter Mitchell of Weir, QC blasted the competition out of the water with 468 ATPAT ticks, to reach 2128. Lorelie Mitchell of Glenboro, MB added 163; Gordon Grief, 153; Hilaire Chiasson, 133; and Rose-Aline Chiasson, 126. Of the leaders, Roger Foxall did best, adding 64 to reach 2823 and slide into 3rd place ahead of Alex Gray. Eric Tull added 5 to his leading total of 2981, still over a hundred ahead of second place Blake Maybank, who gained only one on him last year.

ABA Area 933 spp. (threshold = 500 spp.)

Jim Tucker's brainchild from the 70's has certainly prospered. The American Birding Association was the first large-scale club for North American listers. But the scope of its listing issue is not presently broad enough to cover the detailed level of lists demanded by regional and local birders. Canadian Listers' Corner tries to fill some of that need for Canada. However, yet another more detailed level pertains in some places, where local Listers' Corners cover a large number of local list possibilities.

Barry Attridge sent in the most improved ABA list, a respectable +35 to bring him to 644. A standout among the higher lists was Roger Foxall's +10, given him 750. Mike Austin still maintains a very healthy lead among our listers, at 816!

LIFELISTS

North America 1991 spp. (threshold = 800 spp.)

Martin Edwards added 43 new species to his North American total to take back the lead from Paul Mackenzie. Barry Attridge posted the highest gain at +74. New to the North American list are Lorelie Mitchell at 1199, Gordon Tufts at 1079 and Jerry Pilny at 866.

Newcomers reading this issue may wonder why so few folks qualify for the North American list while so many are on the ABA list. The ABA checklist covers Canada, St. Pierre et Miquelon and the 48 contiguous states of the United States of America, plus Alaska and the District of Columbia. North America also includes Mexico, Central America and all but the most southern of the Caribbean islands. Depending on where you live, a couple of well planned trips to such birding Mecca's as Arizona, Texas or Florida will qualify you on the ABA list. A little more distance and funding is necessary to reach the 800 mark in North America. Two or three good birding trips to varied locations in Mexico and Central America are necessary. While travel and birding are synonymous for some, others cannot afford the money and time necessary to build large lists through travel.

 INTERPROVINCIAL LIFELISTS *****

Interprovincial lists cover all or parts of two or more provinces or territories. The lists included here are merged lists of the species seen in the area, rather than lists formed by adding provincial lists together as in the ATPAT lists. If anyone has more accurate figures for the checklists for any of the areas that follow, please let me know. These are approximate figures for some provincial or territorial combinations, using Denis LePage's monumental Avibase.

Prairie Provinces (AB, MB, SK) 445 spp. - source Avibase (threshold = 150 spp.)

On the Prairies, there were few changes. Calgary's Joan and Malcolm McDonald again had the most additions, both added three new species. Eric Tull added only 2, but moved up from 3rd to 2nd place in the process. The leader Rudolf Koes did not report this year. New Prairie Province listers Bill Wilson (347) and Jerry Pilny (336) joined the fun this year.

The Maritimes (NB, NS, PE) 462 spp. - source Avibase (threshold = 150 spp.)

Angus MacLean, with +5, led the gainers in the Maritime Provinces this year. Blake Maybank has a healthy lead here too, at 386. New to this category were Rosita Lateigne (335) and Michel Chiasson (277). You will, no doubt, notice a close resemblance between the Atlantic Canada this and this one. There are about 13 species that have been found in NF that haven't been found in the Maritimes (c. 475 vs c. 462). In fact, many listers' totals are the same for both tables.

YEAR LISTS

Every January 1st birders get a chance to start a new list, the Year List for the new year. Tables for each listing category under lifelists, also have year lists. To be listed here a birder needs a lifelist of 40% of the provincial total in most provinces; but only 30% of the provincial/territorial total in Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland and Labrador and the Yukon and Northwest Territories. New this year, the threshold for Nunavut Territory is reduced to 20%. Year list thresholds for Canada, ATPAT, ABA area and the world are 80% of the lifelist cutoff. Year lists given here are a birder's best ever year list, as well as their 2004 year list, if reported. Thresholds are shown after an area's total list.

The top list(s) for 2004 in each category are bolded. Again this year, none of the long-standing big year list records were exceeded. However, there were some notable efforts. Joan and Malcolm McDonald of Alberta reached 288, or 71%, each for that province; as well as having the top Canadian year lists at 340. They also found time to amass our largest ABA area lists, at 456 or 49%. Impressive! Robert Parsons, with 271, or 70%, was tops in Manitoba, even though down 18 species from his last year's total. Roger Foxall had the highest provincial list, of 326, or 68%, for British Columbia. One other lister had over 300 in a province last year: Frank Pinilla had 306, or 64%, for Ontario (see his story in the Listers' Blisters section). John Nickerson had 248 in Nova Scotia and Peter Mitchell had 218 in Saskatchewan, both for 54%. Jollande St-Pierre led in NB with 193 or 47%. While a Quebecer led in SK, Hilaire Chiasson from NB led in QC with 201 or 45%. No 2004 year lists came from the remaining provinces or territories.

ATPAT Sum of Highest Provincial Year Lists 5046 spp. (threshold = 800 spp.)

The following two lists have caused a bit of confusion over the years. It seems to be a problem for folks the way it is laid out on the form. So that will be clearer next year, I hope. The first list is of all your best provincial and territorial year lists added together regardless of the year; while the second set requires your best combination of year lists from a single year.

ATPAT Sum of Provincial Year Lists for One Year 5046 spp. (threshold = 800 spp.)

The former list is akin to a lifelist of ATPAT best years, while this table is actually its year list. Gordon Grief of Winnipeg succeeded in breaking into this elite group of birders in 2004, with a total of 960 ticks. This is a tough list in more ways than one. The threshold is set the same as the previous list, despite its obvious extra degree of difficulty. Maybe next year we'll set the bar a little lower on this one.

As mentioned earlier, but worth repeating as they were the only 2004 qualifiers, the McDonald's of Calgary, AB, Joan and Malcolm, had 456 species to add their names to those well-traveled birders on this list.

YEAR LISTS

 INTERPROVINCIAL YEAR LISTS *****

The presentation format has been changed somewhat for interprovincial lists. The lifelists have been added to the lifelist section and the year lists are, logically enough, here. Since previously members were not given space on the form to submit the year of their lists, only a few, from those enterprising souls who added them, are shown. There will be a spot on the form next year for this information.

LISTERS' BLISTERS

It is hard work to build a good list. Many anecdotes are generated, told and retold. Canadian Listers' Corner would like to encourage the sharing of some of these stories, hence Listers' Blisters. My request for such anecdotal accounts was meant to include any listing related stories, but year lists are a natural for this. Below is Frank Pinilla's narration of his somewhat unexpected big year in Ontario.

My Ontario Big Year – 2004 306 Species Frank Pinilla, Thornhill, ON

After being out of the country and arriving back on January 2, it just didn't seem like it was going to be a "300 year" in Ontario, in fact, I didn't even think about it until some time in mid or late JUNE. I was at 272 species on June 30th.

A good start with a January 3rd trip to Algonquin added Boreal Chickadee, Pine Grosbeak and Barred Owl and then on Jan. 4th a Hoary Redpoll at the Visitor Centre feeders. Two trips to Niagara on Jan. 17th & 18th added most of the gulls including the first "rarities" of the year California, Black-headed, and Thayer's, also on these two days I added King Eider as well as many of the other ducks on Lake Ontario. Another Algonquin trip on Feb 29th added Northern Goshawk & Spruce Grouse.

My first big trip for one species was out to the Almonte area (Lanark Co.) for a Northern Hawk Owl, which was successful; still I wasn't even at 100 species by early March! Another "chase" was out to Prince Edward Co. on March 14th where I added Greater White-fronted and Snow Goose to the year list and then a male Barrow's Goldeneye on March 21st out at LaSalle Marina in Burlington as well as 2 Harlequin Ducks at Port Credit.

A big surprise was the male Black-backed Woodpecker in Serena Gundy Park in North York on April 1st, this would be my first sighting of 7 for this species (all the rest being in Algonquin Park). Another surprise was a small flock of 20 Bohemian Waxwings on April 9th whilst doing some off-road cycling in Muskoka.

The male Hooded Warbler in Thickson's Woods, Whitby on May 1st was a good omen for that month, also adding Marbled Godwit that same day at Second Marsh, Oshawa and Summer Tanager on May 2nd again at Thickson's.

Point Pelee, of course, didn't disappoint with Prothonotary, Worm-eating & Kentucky Warblers, Yellow-breasted Chat, White-eyed Vireo on May 7th, Piping Plover on May 8th (saw a second Piping Plover at Second Marsh, Durham later that month) and Harris's Sparrow, Willet & Common Eider on May 9th, a second one-day trip to Pelee the following weekend cleaned up on some later migrants including 3 separate Summer Tanagers and 10+ of each cuckoo species!

The pair of Black-necked Stilts on May 24th at Jarvis Sewage Lagoons was an awesome sight as I stood there all by myself for 2 hours watching them, with nothing & no-one disturbing them.

The Taverner Cup on May 29th, encompassing most of eastern Ontario, only added 4 new year birds but two of these were Red-necked Phalarope & Hudsonian Godwit, but the day following could not be beat, we started the morning on the Ottawa River with 3 Arctic Terns off the Britannia Water Filtration Plant and then the biggest surprise of the year (so far) a male Lazuli Bunting, which was one of my luckiest sightings of the year. We had heard at the Taverner Cup breakfast that this bird was nearby, on our route back to Toronto, so after the breakfast, Norm Murr, Stan Bajurny & I headed to Bell's Corners, just west of Ottawa and within 15 minutes of arriving, we happened to stand in the right spot, the bird flew in over our heads, landed in plain view for 20 seconds and then flew off, not to be seen again that day!

The calling Chuck-will's-widow at Rondeau on June 4th was another surprise as the bird had been reported in mid-May and never again, but I went there on a whim, and the first thing I heard as we stepped out of the car was our target! That trip also took me to St Clair NWA, which is an awesome evening spot, as well as Walpole Island for my first look at Northern Bobwhite in Ontario.

One thing led to another and after a wonderful trip to Rainy River District in the second week of July, after having added 7 "year" birds, including many Le Conte's Sparrows, 3 Western Meadowlarks, 100's of American White Pelicans and literally 1,000's of Franklin's Gulls out on Windy Point on Lake of the Woods as well as a new "Ontario" bird – Black-billed Magpie (of which we saw dozens), my totals were at 279 species, I thought, okay, I have to get 300 now!

On July 30th I took a long lonely trip that led me to the long-staying Cattle Egret near Rock Point P, as well as the Eared Grebe at Exeter Sewage Lagoons. Then two days later, on August 1st, I did a trip to Port Stanley Sewage Lagoons for one of the American Avocets (incidentally, I would add a second Avocet at Van Wagner's Beach, Hamilton, in mid-October). A chase for the male Painted Bunting at Normandale was next, on August 7th, what a spectacular bird and this rounded-out my "3 Bunting Year".

The fall didn't stop, with all 3 Jaeger species on different outings, Black-legged Kittiwake, Nelson's Sharp-tailed Sparrow (all of which were in the Hamilton area), and a very late Red Knot in Cobourg Harbour on October 22nd.

And then, the weekend from heaven, for a birder, November 6th & 7th, included Western Grebe (#296), Purple Sandpiper (297), Pomarine Jaeger (298) and Golden-crowned Sparrow (299), after dipping 3 times for one of the half-dozen Pacific Loons this fall, I finally caught up with #300, a lifer, my first Pacific Loon seen from close distance at Humber Bay Park in Toronto on November 9th. Can you imagine adding 5 new "year" birds this late and at such a high count, I know I couldn't?

I rounded out the year with Sabine's Gull, Lesser Black-backed Gull, Rufous Hummingbird, Boreal Owl, Great Gray Owl (to get all 10 "normal" Ontario owls) and finally, and most surprisingly the Pyrrhuloxia (#306) in Eagle, Elgin Co. – This, of course, assumes that the Pyrrhuloxia will be accepted by the OBRC, definitely not a "given" based on its lack of vagrancy patterns.

Big misses! The biggest was not hearing a Yellow Rail, even after two trips to Carden Alvar and two trips out to "The Big Marsh" in Rainy River District. Also, 3 trips to Brantford airport could not turn up a Gray Partridge and I regret now, not having chased the Gray Flycatcher and Band-tailed Pigeon early in the year nor the Black-throated Gray Warbler at High Park (so close to home). Also, missed Red Crossbill (no lack of trying, after 8 separate trips to Algonquin, one of which was up the "east" side, where they are generally common), a well-seen Yellow-throated Warbler at Pelee, that I just couldn't find, and Buff-breasted Sandpiper which showed up in good numbers this fall.

Wow, what a year!

Frank Pinilla, Thornhill, ON

DAY LISTS

Big Days are not for the faint of heart. Finding as many species as possible during one calendar day, a mere 24 hours, is a challenge to stamina as well as bird finding skills. It is small wonder that we have few reports for day listing each year. As with year lists, a birder's best ever day list and their best day list for 2004 are both reported in the same table. To be published, day lists had to make thresholds of 15% for Nunavut, 20% for PEI, Newfoundland and Labrador and the other territories, and 30% for the other provinces. Thresholds are shown after an area's total list.

Only four day lists were reported from 2004, all from Ontario; Gavin and Ian Platt (172), Margaret Bain (156) and Frank Pinilla (145). All 2004 day lists are bolded. None of these were records, though the Platt's totals are impressive.

WINTER LISTS

Ah! Winter! For most parts of Canada, this is a time when birds are scarce. That is balanced by the possibility of rarities and northern visitors. But to add spice to the season, listers came up with the “winter” list. The concept seems to have caught on and over time reached consensus regarding what winter actually is, for listing purposes. Winter lists cover the three “winter” months of December through February, rather than the season of winter. Winter lifelists - the birds seen during those months in all years birded - are reported as of the end of 2004. Single winter lists are of species seen during one winter. Listed are a birder's best ever single winter list and their list for the winter of 03/04. The thresholds for winter lifelists are 25% for Canada, British Columbia and Ontario, 10% for Nunavut, 15% for PEI, Newfoundland and Labrador and the other territories, and 20% for the other provinces. Thresholds for single winter lists were 5% less. The top single winter list(s) for 2004 in each category are bolded. Thresholds are shown after each category in all jurisdictions.

Winter listing in Canada is obviously best in British Columbia in any given year. But, over time, Ontario has proven its equal. And Nova Scotia comes in at a not too distant third, while actually being a bit better than ON in single year listing. BC, however, is king. In fact, the three highest single year totals for BC are also the three highest for Canada. Another measure of BC's winter potential is the fact that 8 listers have surpassed the provincial lifelist threshold of 241 with their winter lifelists. Elsewhere, there are 3 in ON and one in NS meeting this criterion. Interestingly enough, Doug Phelan in NL was only 2 short at the end of 2003. He did not report last year.

Canada 638 spp. (threshold = 160 spp.)

The top Canada winter lifelists continue to edge toward 300. John Luce added 8 to reach 290, good for 2nd spot, only 4 behind the leader, Jo Ann MacKenzie of Surrey, BC, who added only 2. Who will reach 300 first, and when? Stay tuned. And who will submit a winter ATPAT lifelist (suggested threshold 500)?

 SINGLE WINTER LISTS *****

This year we had two provinces where new high single winter lists were submitted. In Ontario, Terry Osborne, of Erin, ON, new to the group, had a fantastic total of 167, or 35% of the Ontario checklist. In New Brunswick, Jude Larocque, of Coteau Road, NB, had 86 species, or 21%. Not surprisingly, no winter lists have been submitted for any of the territories. Anybody have one, even under the current threshold?

LOCAL LISTS

For all but a few northern areas and some special criteria lists, the thresholds for local lists remain at 150 for lifelists and 120 for best year lists. Local lists are reported as received by the end of 2004. They are organized on a province by province basis. This year we will divide the local lists into lifelist and year list sections, as we have done to winter lists.

Local lists are, to many birders, the most important lists. Many birders, who may not be able to travel far afield, can have exceptional local lists. Canadian Listers' Corner wishes to help promote all facets of listing. Some of you have asked for the inclusion of winter local lists. The option to report those will be incorporated in the reporting form for next year. Also please fill in the year related to any year lists totals. Included with local lists are many of the special criteria lists, such as "Seen in every month Vancouver" or "Sewage Lagoons in Manitoba".

Of particular significance, in my opinion, is the phenomenon of county listing. Many states in the USA have avid county listers. Strangely, only a few provinces have county listers. Obviously, the variety of municipal units and changing definitions and boundaries are problems. And some provinces more readily lend themselves to county listing. The "movement" is strongest in Ontario and Nova Scotia.

Nova Scotia's small size and 18 counties allow county listers to bird several counties thoroughly enough to reach the thresholds. This enlivens the competition. Ontario's municipal units are also small enough to allow dedicated listers to cover several. In Nova Scotia they are all still called counties, even Halifax County, by the provincial government. Refer to <http://www.gov.ns.ca/snsmr/muns/info/mapping/HFXJ.asp>, where you will find that Halifax County contains Halifax Regional Municipality. In fact, that is all it contains; so they are identical. The same situation applies to Cape Breton County.

In Ontario, the situation is much more complex. Beginning historically with counties (in southern ON) and districts (in Northern ON); there are now single-tier municipalities, upper-tier municipalities (which can be regional municipalities or counties) and districts. Some counties have been combined, but boundaries have not been moved too much. So continuity is possible, it's just the name that keeps changing.

Some local areas have been chosen by naturalist clubs, and some with other criteria in mind, such as city limits, park boundaries, etc. Thus two local lists can occur for the same place. This has sometimes led to confusion for reporters and compiler alike. There are many local areas still undefined or poorly defined. With the help of you, the compiler hopes to clarify these.

An example, for instance, that might be confusing, would be Calgary vs. Calgary (city limits). Presumably one is a checklist area and one a political bound of the city. This situation occurs in several cities across the nation. The checklist area is often larger and usually fixed, while city boundaries may be subject to change. But as long as we have good definitions, and we all use the same definitions; it should be fine.

Another example, that has perhaps caused more confusion than most, is Point Pelee. Here most birders use the Point Pelee checklist area, which is the Point Pelee Christmas Bird Count circle. It includes the park and surrounding areas such as Hillman Marsh. There are also many national park listers among our members though, who report their Point Pelee list for Point Pelee National Park only. New members might find this confusing, and sometimes even long-standing members find the incorrect adjacent slot on the reporting form, creating questions for the compiler or outright errors in the newsletter. Please be careful. The reporting form will be reworked for next year, but there is no substitute for your care and accuracy in filling it out.

One more point: Wayne Neily is an advocate of an alternate plan, Latilong listing. Simply put, one uses as listing bounds a unit of one degree of latitude by one degree longitude. They form a rectangular grid across the map. They have the virtue of being equal in area along the same latitude, though decreasing slightly in size as one goes north. They are also immune to the vagaries of politics. Our group doesn't seem to have enough prairie listers to allow this idea to catch on. It has however begun to be used in some states, such as Idaho, though county listing is still far more popular (see <http://www.idahobirds.net/records/records.html>). Obviously, they can happily coexist. Anyway, let's move on to the lists.

At 369, Alan Wormington continues to have the top local list in Canada, a county combination, (Ontario's southern tip of Chatham-Kent, Essex & Lambton Counties), to which he added only a retro Cackling Goose. For many, this would be a healthy provincial list for ON.

Mike Toochin's 352 for Vancouver is tops in BC. David Stirling added 7 to reach an impressive 336 for Vancouver Island. Top gainers were Jo Ann MacKenzie with +12 in the Peace River District and Danny Tyson with +10 in the Reifel Migratory Bird Sanctuary. In the Yukon, Wayne Neily has not only the top local list, but the only one – 114 for Kluane National Park.

Bill Wilson's 315 for Calgary is tops in Alberta. Joan McDonald was the top gainer in the province, with a +5 in Calgary to move into second place at 313. Burke Korol, despite the fact he now lives in Ontario, still has the highest local list for SK, a respectable 249 for Saskatoon. Robert Parsons has the highest Manitoba local lifelist at 331 for Southeastern MB, as well as the highest Southwestern MB and Winnipeg lists (275 & 288). Gordon Grief, with +6 in Winnipeg, had the biggest gain.

In Ontario, Alan Wormington's aforementioned list is highest. But several other lists are above 350, including Don Perks 357 in the Toronto 50 km category, Keith Burk's 354 in Chatham-Kent, Essex & Lambton Counties (2nd to Alan), and Alan Wormington's 352 in the Point Pelee CBC area. Frank Pinilla's +31 in Northumberland County topped the pluses. He was one of our most active listers last year, with double digit gains in 3 other counties as well..

Quebec highest local list and largest gain last year are both attributable to the same birder, Mabel McIntosh, with a +5 to reach 336 in Montreal. Hilaire Chiasson has the top NB list, 307 for the Acadian Peninsula. Jollande St-Pierre was the top gainer with +13 for her Miscou Island list. For NS, Blake Maybank's 342 for Central Nova Scotia is the highest, with John Nickerson's 327 for Shelburne County being the top single county list. Angus MacLean had +14 for his Annapolis County list. Angus also has the highest PEI list, 195 for Prince Edward Island National Park. Blake Maybank has the top local list for NF, with a 248 for Western Newfoundland.

IT'S A WRAP

 THIS YEAR *****

There were 107 people reporting provincial lifelists. Five birders made the lists for 10 or more provinces or territories. Alex Gray is on all 13 lists or 11 if you take off the two that missed the threshold by one bird and are included by the aforementioned rounding. Eric Tull was on 12 or again 11 meeting the threshold. Roger Foxall was on 11 or 10 meeting the mark. Blake Maybank and Wayne Neily made the threshold in 10 each.

A total of 110 birders made at least one of the 26 categories in the lifelist tables, with 655 total listings. Three listers were on 20 or more of the 26 categories. Eric Tull on 23, Alex Gray on 22 and Blake Maybank on 21. In the year list section's 24 categories, 79 birders were on at least one list, and the total number of listings was 315. Six birders qualified in 10 or more year list categories. Blake Maybank led the way with 18, followed by Eric Tull with 15, and Burke Korol with 13. In the day list section there are 13 categories, with 33 listers and 58 listings. Three enthusiasts have listings in 5 or more categories. Blake Maybank led the way with 8, followed by Eric Tull with 6, and Alex Gray with 5. In the winter lifelist section there are 13 categories, with 57 birders and 105 listings. Leading all comers is Blake Maybank with 6 listings, followed closely by Alex Gray and Burke Korol with 5 each. There are 11 single winter categories, with 48 listers and 91 listings. Alex Gray leads here with 5 qualifiers; several runners-up are at four. We now have 170 areas where local lifelists are kept and 59 for local year lists. There are 92 listers, with 489 individual listings. Blake Maybank has his name on 49 local lifelists in 8 provinces (32 in NS alone). Burke Korol is a distant second at 27, Wayne Neily third at 18. In the local year list section there are 45 birders, with 107 listings. Burke Korol leads with 22, while Blake Maybank is second at 15.

Overall we now have 110 listers keeping lists for 315 categories. There were 1820 individual entries on our lists, for an average of 16.6 lists per birder. These numbers are both up from last year, but they are not strictly comparable because of format changes. Seventeen listers reported fewer than five lists, but 11 had more than twice the average number of lists that passed their respective thresholds: Bill Wilson 34, Hue MacKenzie and Angus MacLean 35, David Stirling 36, Jo Ann MacKenzie 37, Robert Parsons 41, Wayne Neily 45, Alex Gray 53, Eric Tull 54, Burke Korol 85 and Blake Maybank 120.

 NEXT YEAR *****

For the ninety percent of you that have internet access, you may keep posted on the latest developments by checking the website occasionally. If all goes according to plan (what a novel concept), there will be a new reporting form ready for next year, incorporating changes mentioned this year. If things go better than planned (no harm in being an optimist), you will be able to report online. Area definitions will be updated and thresholds will be added. For those without internet access, reporting forms will be mailed out as before. Please ensure that next year's reporting forms are filled out online or returned by post by January 31st. Next year's news letter should be in your hands much sooner than this one, barring changes to the novel concept mentioned above.

IMPORTANT: If any of your contact information changes, please let Canadian Listers' Corner know along with your other friends. Canadian Listers' Corner can be reached by email at larry.neily@rogers.com, by snail mail (Canada Post) at 124 Clarendon Avenue, Ottawa, ON K1Y0R3, or, if you have no other option, by phone at 613-722-1633.
